Maritime Strike Tension Eases In New York Area

C. I. O. Pickets Withdrawn

Longshoremen Returning To Work

WEST COAST TIEUP IS STILL COMPLETE

(By International News Service)
The nation's critical and business-deadening Maritime strike situation remained in a muddled state today.

While tension eased up somewhat at New York, no early break in the shipping tieup could be foreseen in San Francisco.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, (CIO) announced in New York he was withdrawing pickets from all foreign vessels and from all other vessels not under contract to the CIO workers.

This would permit seamen affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to board their ships without crossing picket lines except where the ships are berthed in the same docks with vessels under CIO contract.

Some Longshoremen At Work
More than 500 AFL Longshoremen were at work in New York harbor today, loading and unloading ships.

With Joseph Ryan, International Longshoremen's Association president, declaring, "We're going through picket lines where there are AFL ships," NMU workers were speedily withdrawn from at least North River six piers.

Only eight East River piers were picketed, according to police.

There was no violence at Pier 28, North River, where fists flew in a heated brawl yesterday.

West Coast Unchanged
The situation on the West Coast was not materially improved. The committee for Maritime unity, West Coast, extended its picket lines to prevent movement of Istmanian line and foreign ships.

The one favorable note at San Francisco was the CMU's amendment of strike regulations to permit unloading of perishables within 24 hours of arrival in port.

Earlier in New York the AFL seamen who have settled their strike and gained higher wages had warned they would cross the CIO picket lines at 6 a. m. today. Police feared a conflict between the two organizations on the picket lines would lead to violence in virtually every port in the country.

Clears Situation
Curran's directive to all NMU unions cleared the situation.

Curran ordered that all foreign ships not under contract to the NMU are not to be picketed. He then ordered that vessels under (Continued on Page Two)

Out in the area that used to be the wide-open spaces surrounding the site of the Centennial Baseball field, some years ago, there is a lot of activity these days. On one street in the area block of seven or eight brick homes is nearing completion, and nearby work is being rushed on the construction of a large number of homes in the housing development for employees of the United Engineering company.

The fourth set of twins to be brought into the world this month was born at the Jameson Memorial hospital yesterday. Incidentally, there has been no decline in the phenomenal birthrate at the Jameson Memorial hospital, which is continuing the pace set last month, when 124 births were recorded. So far this month, just a little over half over, there have been 50 babies born at the hospital.

Late today, Dr. G. S. Bennett reported that the convention registration had gone over the 700 mark, making it the second largest convention in the history of the Disciples of Christ in Pennsylvania.

Disciples of Christ of Pennsylvania officially opened their 113th session Monday evening in the First Christian church, on the Public Square, when Dr. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the High Street Christian church, Akron, O., delivered a scholarly address on stewardship, entitling his exposition: "The World Fellowship of Christians."

Dr. Minck told his large audience that they should be good stewards in everything that pertained to the Christian walk, such as, their talents, their influence, their prayer life, their family life, emphasizing the fact that the Christians have failed when it comes to the stewardship of giving or tithing.

"More people have missed Heaven because of poor stewardship," remarked the speaker of the evening at the height of his address.

Preceding Dr. Minck's address, Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen opened the first public session of the conference with an organ recital, play-

New York Truck Strike Believed Nearing Break

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Confidence was manifest on all sides that "the biggest part" of the 17-day trucking strike would be broken today with a back-to-work movement likely.

The leader of the striking drivers predicted that the membership of local 807, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, would accept a new formula for ending the impasse.

He predicted that a mass meeting in Manhattan Center later in the day would vote approval, thereby "breaking the biggest part" of the walkout.

Allis-Chalmers Strike Settled

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—(INS)—A gradual resumption of production began today at the Allis-Chalmers manufacturing company's Pittsburgh plant following an agreement to end a 179-day-old walkout by 1100 CIO workers.

The strike was the first to be settled of seven Allis-Chalmers walkouts throughout the nation.

Settlement of the company's Pittsburgh strike came late yesterday when members of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, Local 613, voted 443 to 120 to accept a contract agreement recommended by their negotiating committee.

Uge Meat Price Control Be Ended

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(INS)—A Philadelphia local of the AFL-AMalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen Union today urged President Truman to toss out price controls in the meat industry.

In a telegram to the president, the union said that 2000 union packhouse workers have been thrown into idleness, since meat ceilings were restored.

The number of unemployed in the industry "undoubtedly will double itself" within a week, the union added.

The wire sent by the nation's largest AMCBW local, characterized the OPA as a "complete failure."

Truckers Will Have Meeting On Wage Offer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(INS)—AFL teamsters, whose strike has virtually paralyzed New York City, scheduled a meeting today to consider a wage increase offer by two large concerns.

The H. C. Bohack chain of 330 food stores and Daniels and Kennedy, a trucking concern which hauls newspaper, have offered the strikers $7.49 a week more for a 40-hour week than they have been receiving for a 44-hour week.

However, other truck operators, meeting with Mayor William O'Dwyer's special committee, broke up a meeting yesterday with the avowed intention that they would not sign separate agreements, such as the food store and the trucking

State Police Captain Talks Traffic Safety

One of the most "down-to-earth" traffic safety talks heard here in some time was that of Captain Joseph McCann of the Pennsylvania State Police on Monday night before the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck association. Out of a wealth of experience in highway safety practices, among them experiences as head of the traffic patrol on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, during the war, Captain McCann cited facts, suggested remedies for bad highway traffic practice, and also suggested some changes in the motor code.

"There are three E's in traffic safety," said Captain McCann, "Engineering, Education and Enforcement. The engineering of highways has improved yearly and today the engineers have given us highways which should be much safer

Secretary Wallace's Attitude Increases Crisis In Cabinet

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The cabinet crisis which President Truman sought to still last Saturday appeared to have been given new life today by Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace's bold announcement that he intended to promote a one-man foreign policy of his own.

Wallace expected to see President Truman today to "thrash the whole thing out" in the words of the secretary's own spokesman. The White House had not reported any conference between the two leaders.

While Democratic National Chairman Robert Hannegan denied there was any such schism in the cabinet as a result of Wallace's speech, observers were convinced some resignations of international significance would follow the secretary's blunt statement that he stands on his New York address.

Hannegan Confers
Hannegan held a late Monday conference with Mr. Truman after which he said they discussed "politics in general." He said there had been many requests for addresses by Wallace in the current election campaign, but added that he did not know what the secretary was going to say.

Testimony In Officer's Trial Is Concluded

Police Officer Frank Maccia Testifies In Own Behalf At Morning Session

At 11:27 this morning in Lawrence county court room, the taking of testimony in the case against Frank Maccia, city policeman charged with involuntary manslaughter, was concluded and court recessed until one o'clock. By three thirty it was expected the arguments to the jury and the charge of the court would be finished and the case given to the jury.

Maccia has been on trial for the killing of Frank Baughman at about five o'clock on the morning of June 26. Maccia had stopped Baughman for questioning when he saw the man carrying a quilt down South Mill street. It was testified that Baughman threw the quilt at the policeman and then ran.

Testifying in his own behalf this morning Mr. Maccia said when Baughman started to run he ordered him to halt or he would shoot. When Baughman failed to halt, Maccia, said, Maccia fired three warning shots into the air and then sighed down on him. The bullet almost severed the spinal column of Baughman and he died several days later.

Upon cross examination by Attorney Walter A. Kiehl, Mr. Maccia said he had been a temporary policeman since October 1943, that he had had no experience in police work prior to that and had had no experience in firing revolvers.

Case Is Opened
The case opened Monday morning. When the jury was selected it was first taken to the scene of the shooting. In the afternoon Mr. Kiehl opened to the jury and said the commonwealth would show that Mr. Maccia was not justified in using force and violence in apprehending Baughman and asked for a verdict of guilty. For the commonwealth the following people testified, Glenn Carpenter who photographed scenes near the killing, W. Leslie Wilson a civil engineer who plotted the distances, Jack D. Thompson the policeman who was with Maccia in the cruiser car, Anthony Ricciardi and Joseph Car-

Wallace Will Meet President On Wednesday

Issue Of Wallace's Storm-Creating "Two World's" Speech To Be Threshed Out

CABINET CRISIS APPEARS UNHEALED

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—The White House announced today that President Truman and Secretary of Commerce Wallace will meet tomorrow afternoon for the first time since Wallace's storm-creating "two worlds" speech.

The time of Wallace's appointment with the President was not made public and White House Secretary Charles Ross declined to say whether Wallace had sought the meeting or had been summoned to the executive mansion.

To Thresh Matter Out
A spokesman for Wallace had said earlier, however, that the Commerce secretary desired to "thresh the whole thing out" with Mr. Truman.

Meanwhile, the cabinet crisis which the President sought to still Saturday with repudiation of what had been interpreted as his endorsement of Wallace's "go easy with Russia" speech, appeared unhealed.

In fact, Washington observers believed Wallace's bold statement that he intended to promote a one-man foreign policy of his own widened the breach between the former vice president and Secretary of State Byrnes.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Acting Secretary of State Clayton today said that he expects Commerce Secretary Wallace to clear any future speeches on foreign policy in advance with the State department.

Although disclaiming any discussion with Wallace or President Truman on the subject of last Thursday night's disputed speech, Clayton told newsmen that he thought it was a fair assumption that future speeches affecting United States foreign relations will be submitted to the department for approval.

That, he said, has always been the practice and one which would apply not only to cabinet officers but to any responsible official.

Landon Assails Wallace-Byrnes Cabinet Issue

SABETHA, Kan., Sept. 17.—(INS)—Alf M. Landon charged today that America's leadership in the world will be hamstringing if both Henry Wallace and James Byrnes remain in President Truman's cabinet.

Charles C. Shearer, 58, West Midlands R. D. 2.

Arthur Mometer

There's little beef and a lot less pork, and you hardly can find any lamb, and roasts and steaks are forgotten words. As is also a nice baked ham. The lovely hot dog has disappeared, gone where the good poaches go, and what can we eat when we want some meat, well frankly I wouldn't know. You can kill a hen if you have a hen, or a turkey if you can find it. But the price will knock you for seven loops and once you have bought you will find it. So out to the garden and dig some spuds and some onions, or maybe some hay. We're vegetarians and that's for sure, it's warm, eighty-two today.

Sees Increase In Milk Output

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst said today the first indication that fall milk production may be "better than was expected" was disclosed in a report showing August output was only one per cent below the same month of last year.

Horst said the 465,000 pounds of milk produced in Pennsylvania last month compared with 471,000 pounds in the same month of 1945. July output this year totaled 476,000,000 pounds.

He pointed out that protein feeds and concentrates were not available in quantity in many areas and that the total number of milk cows "continues to decline."

Horst reported that during August a total of 176,000,000 eggs were produced on Pennsylvania farms, a drop of 20,000,000 compared with July.

"The August decline in egg production is seasonal and also is due to a reduction of two per cent in the number of layers on farms which now total 12,812,000," he said.

Average prices for eggs advanced 8.1 cents over July's 46.9 cents per dozen, he added.

Two Robberies Draw Police Quiz

California Youngsters Confess Killing Of Parents Of One Of Boys Held

YUBA CITY, Cal. Sept. 17.—(INS)—Billy Anderson, 16, and Nathan Edward James, 15, were lodged in the Sutter county jail today after being booked for murder.

The two boys arrived at Yuba City last night in custody of Sheriff G. W. Carpenter and District Attorney Lord Hewitt after an automobile trip from Barstow in Southern California.

The youths talked with jail officials freely and told the same story of the murder of Anderson's father, W. H. Anderson, 51, and the boy's stepmother, Donnie Anderson, 26, as they recounted at Barstow.

Confessions Made

Hewitt and Carpenter in releasing confessions by both boys, said that Billy killed his father with a shotgun while Nathan killed Mrs. Anderson with a 22 caliber rifle at the Anderson ranch near Live Oak September 8. The motive was said to be a "dislike" of the stepmother.

Deputy Sheriff Ben A. Stevens, who booked the pair for murder, said the boys were "neither crestfallen nor downhearted."

Authorities said disposition of the case rested with Superior Judge Arthur Coats, who will decide whether the boys will face a formal superior court trial or be turned over to the juvenile court.

SEC. WALLACE'S ATTITUDE CAUSES CRISIS INCREASE

In Washington, the most inescapable conclusion from Wallace's last speech, the one that touched off the controversy is that he has projected the U. S. foreign policy into domestic politics.

These officials recalled that it had been one of the keystones of the policy adopted by President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and later, by Secretary of State Byrnes himself, that foreign policy must be non-partisan.

It has been on this basis that Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and other Republicans have been called in on all major international conferences. It is a reason also why Republican congressional leaders have been consulted at every step of the way on the formulating of American policy for the postwar world.

Wallace Violates Idea

These officials did not question the right of Wallace to express his views as a private citizen on the international situation. But, they noted, he could hardly speak as a private citizen while retaining his cabinet rank of secretary of commerce.

They argued that in his last speech as in those he plans to make again, Wallace, while in the cabinet, should not have voiced his opinions without first having cleared his remarks with the secretary of state or at least the state department itself.

This far Wallace has given no indication that he plans to follow this system in the future.

Instead, Wallace merely said in comment on the crisis his New York remarks caused, "feeling as I do however, that most Americans are concerned about and willing to work for peace, I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace, and I shall, within the near future, speak on this subject again."

through the bungling of a Democratic president—I don't care which one—have lost ours?

"Isolationism is impossible for America. It is the height of disservice to America to continue to point to a rosy, one-world situation that simply does not exist."

Landon declared that even should the difference on foreign policy be reconciled for the sake of party interests, it would be at the expense of American prestige and influence throughout the world.

The former Republican presidential nominee and one-time Kansas governor delivered his blast at New Deal foreign policy in a speech at a convention of the first congressional district Young Republicans.

It was obvious that a comfortable majority of the eleven member nations of the UN council were in favor of tossing out the case against Greece as "unsubstantiated," "deplorable," "slenderous," and "regrettable."

Netherlands Foreign Minister Eelco Van Kleffens, in the course of an abbreviated council meeting yesterday, flatly charged that the Soviet-dominated countries were using the Security Council as a stage from which to further their own desires for territorial expansion and a preachment of the Communist doctrine.

Owens added that all AFL unions would respect the CIO picket lines around their contracted ships "until such time as these people defeat their operators and gain the same wages and conditions that we have already won."

QUESTION

It will not be long until we will be going back on Eastern Standard Time, and we still have not noticed a surplus of vegetable and garden produce, but we have been told that there has been quite a heavy sale of golf balls this summer.

We also wonder what has become of those people who told us that during the war, the scarcity of food was on account of sending it to the soldiers. Now, the soldiers are practically all home, and food is scarcer than during the war.

For Free Flow Of News

There should never have been any hesitation on the part of the United Nations from the start in adopting a covenant establishing world freedom of information, and just as the American Society of Newspaper Editors maintains, continued delay and failure to act weakens faith in the organization.

Backed officially by the United States, Great Britain and China and also by the governors of 41 of our states, the society has now petitioned the United Nations General Assembly for action.

There is no use ignoring the fact, however, that such action hinges upon the willingness of all nations to co-operate. Chief obstacle to a free flow of news and opinions is the "iron curtain" policy of the Russians. Until there is some modification of Soviet ideas along this line it isn't very likely that its drive for world freedom of news will get very far.

Reversing The Drift

Not only the peace-making but also the peace-preserving machinery of the world seems to be retarded. Glacier-like progress of the Allied conference in Paris has made certain that it will not be over when the snow flies. Lack of definite achievement may cause pessimism. But a feeling of stalemate often is inevitable in a period of difficult negotiation. The stark fact is that the great coalition to which all things might have been possible is breaking apart, leaving a gulf of uneasiness pervading both the communist and non-communist worlds. This has not been abated even though the Russian protege in Yugoslavia has accepted inadequately and with ill grace an American ultimatum.

Had Molotov's sudden trip from Paris to Moscow involved Soviet recognition of a necessity for reorientation of policy, then the purposes of the war's grand alliance would have been on their way to capture. But this was a vain hope. There is a call to statesmanship for a working means which will permit the two great world systems to live and work side by side in the constructive tasks of the postwar world.

The drift from peace is far yet from being a tide toward chaos, and there is time to reverse its flow.

As Gen. Pershing Sees It

General John J. Pershing, leader of United States forces in World War I, knows the value of military preparedness and the stupendous handicaps of such deplorable unpreparedness as was ours in 1917. When, at the age of 86, he now declares that "in this postwar period of international differences it is incumbent upon our country to enforce our diplomacy with continued strength," he should be listened to.

There's a good deal to be said for General Pershing's belief that if the Allies had dictated the terms of peace in Berlin at the close of the first World War, and had maintained a respectable posture of defense on land and sea and in the air, there might not have been a second World War. In the recent war the Allies did what Pershing urged 27 years earlier. They marched to Berlin and brought home to the German people, through large armies of occupation and stringent regulations, the full meaning of defeat.

But will the victory guarantee an enduring peace? It won't, we may be sure, if the United States slumps back in complacency and fails to keep its Army, its Navy and its Air Forces strong and thoroughly modern in every respect. General Pershing is right.

Permanent Permanent?

Perhaps no one will get too excited. After all, these are times when airplanes fly without pilots, when men talk seriously of shooting projectiles to the moon and other men dwell on the possibility of man-made planets whirling about the earth, doing whatever some fellow with a finger lightly on a key wants them to do.

And so, other things considered, the permanent wave that will remain permanently may turn out to be really "small potatoes." But in its quiet little orbit, the permanent permanent, as reported to the American Chemical Society the other day in Chicago, could cause quite an intense stir. At least, it could in less climactic times, when no one thought that all was going to end in perhaps a day or two.

Women who have straight hair have forever turned envious eyes on the lass with built-in curls. "Oh, if only I had . . ." But, of course, everybody knows the words. Well, through a new treatment of the sulphur content of the hair, the envious lady may soon have her curls, for always and always, it is claimed.

At first glance this may seem to be a bitter development for the beauty salons; but come to think of it, will it really be? It would be a big and fearful step, sitting down in that chair, with heavy and shining apparatus hanging over one's head, and saying: "Fix me up for life with curls." For what if the curls didn't turn out as expected? Or what if the envious woman decided years afterward that she'd like to affect that "classic" look wherein the hair is parted in the middle, pulled back tightly and secured in a knot? Could the science which made the permanent make it un-permanent after several years?

Is this the time to be jumping carelessly into beauty chairs and making decisions which with time may turn upon one and make life a long regret? Caution, mildy, caution!

One of our friends says he has been watching a wasp build itself a house for weeks, and it has taken the insect so long to complete it he is beginning to believe that it is a FHA project.

The Red Sox have the pennant put away in the deep freeze and from now on the role of the other American league clubs will be that of just seven assorted sparring partners.

Joe Cronin's boys atomized the opposition early in the summer and from then on it was strictly a breeze in.

The secret of Sox success was that they flew a jet-propelled job while the rest were still depending on the old-fashioned propeller type.

Boston's ex-GS stars acted all summer as though they didn't know the war was over and kept on fighting at a fever clip. What they did to the western clubs of the league hasn't been duplicated since the Sioux Indians and Custer kept a date.

Boston's hitters slammed the ball this season as though they had developed a particular hatred for horsehide.

The Red Sox hurlers sang the ball past enemy batsmen in a manner that suggested they were firing forty-fives from the hip.

The Dodgers and Cardinals in the National League have been so busy scrapping over their flag that they haven't noticed what has been going on in the junior circuit. Well, what they don't know won't hurt them—until the World Series.

WASHINGTON CALLING

President Did Not
Study Wallace Speech

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The controversy that has blown up over the speech on foreign policy made by Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace illustrates once again the powers inherent in the office of chief executive. The slightest pressure on the White House keyboard produces consequences that echo all over the globe.

The story behind the president's approval of the Wallace speech throws a revealing light on how perilous that pressure can be when it is casual or even accidental. Here, in general outline, are the events leading up to the tragedy.

When Wallace came in to see President Truman about the speech, he did not leave a copy of it with the president. Instead, Wallace read to him what he believed to be pertinent passages of the address he intended to make at Madison Square Garden before a strongly pro-Russian audience.

The secretary of commerce put particular emphasis on the paragraph in which he said he was not anti-Russian, he was not anti-British, but in favor of an American foreign policy. The president interrupted him at this point to say, in effect, this:

"I Approve That"
"That expresses our policy. That's what we all believe. Of course, I approve that."

At least three times while Wallace was with the president, they were interrupted. When Wallace left, the chief impression Truman had was that the speech was political in nature; it would be an endorsement of the Democratic candidates, Mead and Lehman, before a rally that would provide a sympathetic background.

In response to the first question on the Wallace speech at his press conference, the president said with firm wisdom that "certainly, he would not comment on an address that had not yet been delivered. Then, however, he permitted himself to be led on by other questions. It is the falling—the falling of a man of good will who wants to do what he can to oblige and please—he has repeatedly shown in press conferences when he has given off-hand answers on subjects of the most vital import.

Not until Acting Secretary of State Will Clayton called the White House and talked with one of the president's aides was there a realization of the damage that had been done. No one in the White House, aside from the president, had had any knowledge of the import of the Wallace speech.

Deep Concern
Clayton did not conceal his deep concern over what it would mean to Secretary Byrnes in the midst of the fearful difficulties of the Paris conference. This was at six o'clock on the day the speech was to be delivered. With daylight saving time in New York, the meeting would begin in an hour and a half. Nevertheless, there was hurried discussion as to whether an effort should be made to reach Wallace on the phone and persuade him to develop an acute attack of indigestion. Anything to prevent his making the speech.

That was vetoed. The text of the speech, or part of it, had already moved over news tickers. It was felt that if it were killed at that stage at White House, the repercussions would be as bad, or even worse, than if it were delivered as planned. So the die was cast and Wallace stood up before the partly cheering, partly hissing audience to make his all-important speech.

The next morning—Friday—the White House was not long in ignorance of the storm that had been unleashed. It blew from every quarter. The rumor and counter-rumor of the past few days should be corrected in one respect, however. There was no communication from Byrnes or Senators Connally and Vandenberg, his advisers. From Paris came only a great silence.

Changes Point of View
Through that day on advice of one or two of the men closest to him, the president determined to say nothing. He believed that any explanation or amplification would only make matters worse.

On Saturday he swung to the other point of view. Clayton came to him with a statement he intended to read at his own press conference, saying, in effect, that there was no change in U. S. foreign policy. The president had had before him a tentative text of a similar declaration. He told Clayton that he felt such a statement should come from him and therefore the Saturday afternoon press conference was arranged.

Without a declaration from the president himself, Byrnes' position in Paris would have been almost hopeless. The image has not been repaired. It cannot be repaired, as the president himself now sadly realizes.

The president did not want to offend his friend, Henry Wallace, who had stood beside him in his quarrel with Harold Ickes. That is not enough. Regardless of the merits or demerits of our official foreign policy, Wallace's muddled and confused speech has done great harm.

The State Police Say:

Nearly 5000 children are killed annually by automobiles. The majority of child accidents on streets and highways occur in the afternoon after school. Many result from the practice of playing and running in the streets. Adequate provision for children to play safely in playgrounds and recreation centers will prevent many of these unfortunate cases. In addition, the careful parent will teach his child how and where to play safely and will always set a proper example for children.

This is the hottest September that Washington has had in years . . . The thermometer in the White House has been climbing steadily since the Wallace speech.

I understand that Republican national headquarters has wired all GOP candidates . . . "Lie low boys . . . we've got Henry and Harry working for our side."

Yep . . . It really looks as though "60 million job Henry" took on too many for himself.

But his importance as a spokesman for his party must not be underestimated. He is so beloved by the Democrats that after one term as vice president 13 other guys were put in nomination with him for the job so he wouldn't be lonesome.

Truman won on the second ballot but Henry is still running.

Up till the other night he was ahead for the "Liberal" vote . . . Then he forgot to smile when he mentioned Russia . . . That put Claude Pepper in the tail position running freely.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Here is one of the great riddles of human nature which I have never been able to solve.

Go to church on any Sunday.

There you will see a fairly full house. You will see your neighbors and many other peoples' neighbors.

They will be dressed in their best clothes. They will sing and listen attentively to the preacher. They will nod their heads in assent to his exhortations. They will put a decent amount of money in the contribution plate. They will piously say their "Amen" to everything that goes on and leave for home with full intent to be noble, righteous, upstanding citizens, full of brotherly love and of the light that shines forever.

Come Monday and where are all the good intentions?

Once the Sunday clothes are hung in the closet and business suits and gingham are donned once more, the pious churchgoer of yesterday changes right back into his chiseling, gossiping, mercenary ways.

That is the riddle. If we know what is right and what is wrong and if we promise God on Sunday to do only what is right, why do we break our promises to Him on Monday?

What is wrong with the church? What is wrong with religion? What is wrong with preachers?

Can it be that man will behave only if there is a police force or an army to make him behave?

Should the church be a police station?

Can religion be effective only if the preacher wears a cop's uniform rather than a robe and if his equipment is not the Bible and the hymn-book but a pistol and a set of handcuffs?

I went to a New York church last Sunday.

I saw several delegates to the United Nations, plump, singing hymns and praying to God.

The preacher spoke of brotherly love and condemned hate.

"Amen," said the delegates. And the next day, out at Lake Success, they did not love but hated. They did not speak God's words but their rulers. They did not say "Amen" but "Veto."

I read the other day that scientists are trying to explore the human mind and find out what makes it click.

It is about time that we know as much about the mind and the heart and the spirit and the soul as we know about atomic energy and radar and jet propulsion.

It is about time that we discover how each man and each woman can be made to be his or her own policeman, to put the handcuffs on his or her own shortcomings and vices, how love about which we talk and sing and versify so much can be made the power that rules the world.

Each one of us has been given weapons much stronger than any bombs or guns or deadly rays.

But we have not been taught how to use them effectively.

We have learned to master the atom.

Now let us learn to master ourselves.

From Me To You

A few days ago we announced that those who are in dire need of a place to live should register this fact at the GNCA office in the Castleton hotel . . . just those folks who will be living out in the open come time their lease is up . . . absolutely in distress. This information is needed so that a true picture may be formed to guide the proper authorities in seeing that emergency housing will be in place by the time the need is here. To date about fifteen families have registered . . . if you are in distress over housing, not merely that you want to move to get away from it all . . . but in dire circumstances please make a visit to the GNCA office . . . tell your story . . . but please act at once . . . this vital information is needed.

The New Castle Booster Club is progressing right along . . . all those who join by the first of October will be considered as Charter Members. A little conversation that has been running the streets this week concerning the Booster group reached our ears yesterday . . . Some one or some group is passing around the word that this New Castle Booster Club is being organized for the sole purpose of backing a couple of men who wish to run for the School Board. They go on to say that the men who will run will be sympathetic to athletic thought and will favor certain members of the athletic set up. Friends, to the best of our knowledge, this is entirely untrue . . . the New Castle Booster Club is strictly non-political. All stories stating otherwise are false . . . If in the future the club turns to that side of the fence here is one who will immediately sever relations. The sole object of the organization will be to sponsor civic ideas that will tend to make New Castle a better place in which to live. We might add that the dues are two dollars per year . . . nothing more . . . Let us know if you are interested.

Back about a year ago . . . the talk that went around seemed rather worried in tone . . . We felt it across the pond . . . Everyone was concerned over the readjustment of the soldiers, sailors and marines. It will be a big problem, many said, to get these men back on their feet. Today that problem has not showed its head . . . the majority of service men and women are better adjusted than a lot of civilians.

The Parent Problem

HAPPY PLAYTIME HAD AT HOME

We want our children, from the time that they can toddle, to have a good time in our home and to attract their playmates to join in their pleasures.

Our early task is to teach the child to handle property with care and, if we are patient enough, we can so train him with little or no punishment. Let the child begin to walk, have as much of the house as possible where he can move about and play with his toys, but let him learn early not to throw things indoors, not to destroy the furniture, not to jump up and down on stuffed chairs or stand on any furniture in his shoes.

Children Join Him

When other children join him in the house, let them learn that they are welcome so long as they observe the rules of your home. My bulletin, "Teaching Child Care of Property" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

But, please do not be disturbed by vocal noises. Glee, shouting voices do not mar furniture nor lay the plaster from the walls. If we think that children ought to make some noise it will not cause us to be nervous nor give us a headache. Outside noises don't.

We want our children to learn early not to play games of chase or of throwing things inside the house. Almost surely they will be doing so, break something or injure themselves. Always make them go outside for such games. No use to threaten them with punishment, if they break something. Any accident is beside the point.

If we let them go on running or throwing things indoors, then we should certainly bear the consequences. We know when their play endangers property. Then is the time to act and keep them out of trouble, training them in wholesome, safe fun habits.

Read Early

If, very early, you read a great deal to your child, provide him with ample toys and tools, and encourage him in creative play, other children coming in will enjoy such harmless, useful fun and will join him. Even the most rowdy rough-necks of your neighborhood can be tamed into good playmates and citizens in your home under favorable conditions, by patient sympathetic guidance.

From my notes I read:

"Almost every day several of my youngest lad's playmates spend hours at a time with him at home, at the work bench in the basement, at constructive and creative play, or quiet games in his living room, at making things with scissors, paste, crayons, paints, fasteners, and the like, or at drawing or browsing through magazines and encyclopedias.

"All the while they do a good deal of talking, laughing, joking. My lad plays in a similar fashion in some of the neighbors' homes, and the older children have had a similar experience with their young friends. On good days the vacant lot or back lawn is also a good place for all the children of the neighborhood."

He must have been nine or ten years old then.

BOYS AND EATS

The appetite of a vigorous boy has a reputation for being enormous. The boy needs to eat for two reasons, he needs material for growth and he needs fuel for action.

Protein is necessary for building purposes. This is supplied by meat, milk products and eggs. The fuel is provided by the starches and sugars of the various vegetables and cereals.

Mammy named her boy Prescription because it was so hard to get him filled.

A boy's appetite is a pretty good guide as to when he should eat. Regular meal times are fine. An occasional snack when he is hungry fills the bill pretty well.

A drink of milk and a cookie are old time favorites. Now ice cream cone seems to be popular.

A slice of bread with butter or margarine and apple butter hits the spot.

Let us hope that pretty soon we will have lots of butter and bread and boys.

Washington Reports

House Military Committee Ired By Senate Probers
Foresee President Inactive In Political Campaign
Manpower Lack Seen As Stumbling Block

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The House military affairs committee is toying with the idea of paralleling the Senate Mead committee inquiry into the "Wyman case" with one of its own. Key figure under scrutiny is Col. Theodore Wyman Jr., former head of defense construction at Pearl Harbor.

The House committee headed by Rep. Andrew May (D of Kentucky, who has been given a bad time in the Mead probe of the Garsson munitions combine, is pretty unhappy about having the senators investigate the same question it once looked into. It was further irked by Mead committee's insinuations that the House investigation was incomplete.

Also moving to May's group was the Pearl Harbor investigating committee's recommendation that Wyman be investigated, with no reference to findings made by the House unit.

A dual investigation might bring a wrangle over a Nazi witness, Werner Plack, pre-Pearl Harbor member of the Nazis' Los Angeles consulate, is available in the American zone in Germany. House testimony disclosed him to have been an acquaintance of Hans Wilhelm Ruhl, German-born contractor who held Pearl Harbor defense contracts under Wyman. Both committees have learned Plack is available and both are considering whether to act.

President Truman's announcement that he will not call the 79th Congress back into special session is interpreted by political observers as emphasizing his decision to play an inactive part in the fall election campaign. Apparently Mr. Truman feels that the OPA revival law is working out as well as can be expected and that the long-range housing program, bottled up in committee, can wait until the new 80th Congress convenes Jan. 3.

It is believed that realistically the president is convinced he would probably get less cooperation from a "lame-duck" Congress than he received from the 79th before it recessed.

Behind the no-extra-session announcement lies the executive's belief that the whirling currents of international affairs far outweigh politics on the domestic front.

Mr. Truman already has announced that he feels he must resign in Washington to meet any diplomatic emergencies which might arise at the Paris peace conference or the United Nations meeting in New York.

Informed sources are certain, however, that the president will deliver at least one major political address before the voters go to the polls across the nation in November. But local politics will be out.

Reporters used to "carrying the ball" in news conferences when officials are not talkative ended up by carrying the luggage of Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R) of Michigan in their efforts to get a story from the Michigander.

News men met Vandenberg at Washington's National airport as he was enroute to Paris. The senator wouldn't talk. Determined to get a story, reporters followed him into the airport luggage room. They got a story but wound up carrying three large suitcases to the senator's car. Vandenberg chuckled: "This is like the movies."

Informed government sources believe that manpower now will be the big stumbling block to all-out production even when the materials supply increases.

Officials have warned non-priority builders that labor shortages will probably be a formidable problem next year. The census bureau has already disclosed that employment has reached an all-time record of more than 60 million jobs.

Some government officials were on record shortly after V-J day with predictions that unemployment would range from two to eight million early in 1946. The contrary has proved to be true and now federal authorities in touch with the situation forecast critical shortages in some industries where experienced workers are required.

The World and the Mud Puddles

OUT IN GANG-LAND

We read in the papers that William Heitens, a seventeen-year-old killer and mutilator of a little six-year-old girl and murderer of two women, "traded" his confession to the Cook County District Attorney for promise of life imprisonment instead of death.

Whether the District Attorney for Cook County, Illinois, is too indolent or too weak to prosecute William Heitens in the Court and obtain a death penalty or not I do not know, but it appears to be the perpetual way in Chicago, for the District Attorney of Cook County to dispose of such a case. The same thing happened in the famous Leeb case and we know what the result of that was. It was another killing. Leeb had been declared insane and placed in confinement with the criminally insane.

Many persons are sincere in their opposition to capital punishment, but it all arises from ignorance, either willful or otherwise, of the purpose of capital punishment. The most excellent reason for inflicting death as a punishment is to prevent the person convicted from doing the same thing again and life imprisonment as a penalty does not prevent the criminal from doing it again. There is always the opportunity of escape from prison, the opportunity of obtaining a parole and over and over again we find the

Resuming Fight To Halt Sending Of Goods Abroad

W. G. Williams, ADA Organizer Seeking Injunction Against WAA Actions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—The doughty old gentleman who by his protests halted a shipment of American ice machines to Yugoslavia is at it again.

W. G. Williams, professed enemy of "governmental folly" and organizer of the new "American Direct Action, Inc." revealed today that he is seeking an injunction forbidding the war assets administration from sending surplus goods needed in this country to foreign or international groups.

He declared in his usual fiery manner: "The WAA doesn't have a leg to stand on. As a lawyer of 50 years standing, I am certain that the immunities act does not give authority for this policy of 'giving America away'."

Retains Lawyer

Williams has retained a lawyer to handle the injunction proceedings and papers are being drawn up. The petition will probably be filed in the name of Vernon L. Derrickson, a former Marine sergeant with 25 months in the Pacific and three battle stars to his credit.

Derrickson, H. H. Chadwick, an associate of Williams in the engineering business, and Williams himself form the "American Direct Action" executive committee.

ADA was incorporated last week in the District of Columbia. Ever since a Sept. 3 International News Service story telling of the new organization, Williams says he has been swamped with letters from people who want to join.

"We aren't to start enrolling members. And we aren't asking funds as yet. We're financing this whole thing out of our own pockets. When we get our policies a little better defined we'll open a membership drive. I predict an eventual membership running into the millions."

Not Inactive

Although it is strictly a three-man organization at present, with the 70-year-old Williams as the driving force, ADA is not inactive. The pending injunction suit is but one of a series of moves.

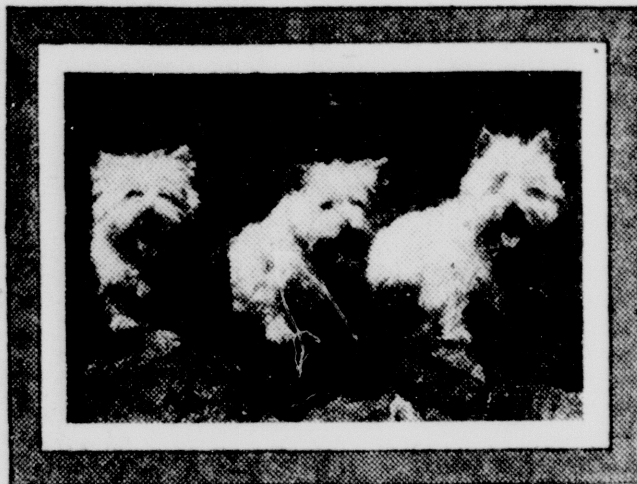

Within the past few days Williams has advised WAA Chief Littlejohn to seek an opinion from Attorney General Clark on his right to allow war surplus to go out of the country, protested to President Truman on the foreign disposal of war surplus, asked UNRRA Director LaGuardia why he hasn't halted shipments to Yugoslavia, and opposed a WAA directive giving the UN the same priorities as states in the disposal of war surplus.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

(Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.)

New Castle, Pa.,
Sept. 16, 1946.

Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

Very recently an article appeared in The News, written by one of our county officials, relative to the assessment and collection of the four mill personal property tax on stocks, bonds, etc.

In my opinion, the county commissioners have acted wisely as I consider this particular tax one of the most unfair and outmoded taxes of all times. A short time ago this same tax was levied by the state as well as the county, but was recently discontinued by the state. Why was it discontinued by the state?

The real reason was because of its unfairness. This tax compelled investors to pay four mills to the state and four mills to the county on stocks and bonds which paid absolutely no return to the investor and by which the investor in many cases was the loser of thousands of dollars due to market shrinkage and other financial reasons. Even though he had already suffered a large loss and even though he was receiving no dividends he was compelled to pay this tax through the many years when values were scraping the bottom. Would it not be just as fair to levy this tax on a farmer's horse which had just died? If you were a farmer and had just lost a valuable horse, how would you like it if the county commissioners appeared on the scene and told you that you must pay a four mill tax on that horse? Surely you would think that you had already suffered enough loss without having to pay a tax on your loss.

Another thing which must be kept in mind is that the county assessors are paid $6 per day for calling upon the taxpayers in connection with assessing this tax. Maybe the assessor will turn in a day's work and called on only two or three such taxpayers. The tax due the county might be $.50 or $.75 while the as-essor must be paid $6. Maybe our county commissioners are on the job after all.

This four mill tax law might contain some sense of fairness if it were levied on the income from stocks, bonds, etc., instead of the dwindled principal amount which has been the case for many years up until the recent raise in market prices.

In these days of high costs for materials as well as the higher salaries paid, our county commissioners are conducting the business of the county with a four mill real estate tax, one of the lowest county taxes in the state. They are not complaining of a shortage of funds, why then should they be prodded into pressing the collection of the four mill tax on stocks, bonds, etc.

Yours very truly,

BENJAMIN S. AGNEW.

The New Castle Group of Alcoholics Anonymous has received the following press release from the New York headquarters:

"It has come to our attention that several local and national organizations are soliciting contributions of money from the public through personal appeals and letters from which the public may infer sponsorship by Alcoholics Anonymous.

"In view of this fact, we feel that a restatement of our policy in regard to such matters is necessary at this time.

"No individual or special group of individuals has been or will be authorized to solicit funds under the sponsorship or with the sanction of the General Headquarters of Alcoholics Anonymous or The Alcoholics Foundation.

"In view of this policy, Alcoholics Anonymous not only fails to endorse the present solicitations of funds but looks with disfavor on the unauthorized use of its name in any fund raising activity."

Declares Divorce Rate Is Shameless

MERCER, Sept. 17.—Calling the divorce rate in Mercer county shameless and adding that many cases were uncontested, Judge George H. Rowley endeavored this morning to straighten out the domestic affairs of estranged couples in non-support court today at Mercer.

To one childless couple, the court said that children contributed to happiness and their absence made both parties more selfish and self-centered.

YOUTH SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM FOR MURDER OF COUSIN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—Eugene P. Domonkos, 15, of Patton, today began a life sentence for the murder of his six-year-old cousin Nancy M. Crowell, also of Patton.

Domonkos was sentenced to life imprisonment in Western penitentiary yesterday by Judge George W. Griffith. The youth had pleaded guilty in Cambria county court last week.

Judge Griffith ruled that the slaying was first degree murder and said that had the boy been an adult the death sentence could have been imposed.

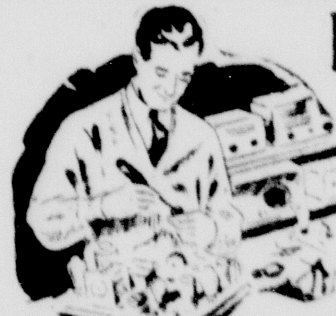

Young Domonkos admitted to the court that he stabbed and strangled the girl last June 30 in a fit of temper after she had called him names.

Hints On Etiquette

If a friend of yours declines a drink, don't urge him and make him conspicuous by insisting that he join the rest. It is very bad manners and poor taste to do so. Respect his wishes.

Sweden Much Aroused Over 'Ghost Bombs'

Rocket Bombs Provide Mystery To Sweden—Having Effect On People Of Nation

By NED NORDNESS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 17.—There is a mystery in the heavens over Sweden. It centers around the alleged rockets, V-bombs or futuristic missiles that have been witnessed by many over this peaceful state.

The Swedes call them "spook bombs" or "ghost bombs," and they're not joking.

The steady, sudden and silent visitations of these rockets since June have had an effect on the people of this country that cannot be ignored.

Mystery Depresses
The people are depressed concerning the mystery surrounding the flights. They are depressed about many things. That peace apparently has not followed in the wake of devastating war, that the East and the West seem to have sided against each other; that Sweden is in the middle—the last is a belief firmly shared by all the population—and lastly, the rockets.

Frankly, Sweden feels no more secure today than it did while on its tight-rope during the great conflict.

In the homes, on the street, in the restaurants, in the offices, the question of Sweden and its uneasy security come up in the form of pessimistic questions and answers. Sooner or later such questions crop up in all conversation—and then the rockets.

The man in the street—he may be a laborer, a lawyer, a doctor, an actor—asks why? Why are they sent over Sweden? What is the purpose? What have we done? What are we supposed to do?

The questions are put in puzzlement, perplexity, anxiety or downright anger and bitterness.

Said one professional man to me: "We have so much in our way of life we could offer others. Much that we are anxious to show the world. We have worked hard for a good standard of living; for knowledge and security for all and now we can't even be happy ourselves with this hanging over us."

Little is known about the rockets although much has been written concerning them. The theories include: (1)—That they are piloted. (2)—They are radio-controlled. (3)—They are controlled by television. (4)—They return to their rocket bases. (5)—They burn themselves out.

There is little to prove any of these beliefs. Many state that there are no such rockets at all, but that witnesses have seen meteors—falling stars—a common phenomena in Sweden during July and August, but certainly unusual in June.

The government is close-mouthed and has issued little information. One foreign office source explained to me the government knows little more than the average man about the rockets.

The government does know that projectiles have appeared over Sweden by the very fact that most of them have followed a same course, and have flown over the coast from a southeasterly direction. The government also discloses that no rocket or projectile of any form has been located in Sweden, which gave rise to the various beliefs the rockets were piloted, radio-controlled, etcetera.

Travel At Terrific Speed
However, witnesses asserted the rockets, letting loose a trail of flame, traveled so swiftly they could not be seen in form.

One witness to three such rockets told me, "I was sailing on an inland lake when I looked up and saw a blazing trail of flame. It swept directly across the lake horizontally with the landscape. Within two minutes, two other flame trails appeared. There was no noise. I could see no shape or form to the 'things.' I know they were not meteors because it was just after sundown, before the stars appeared."

Technical experts have stated that at such speed as witnesses assert the projectiles to be flying, no pilot could be at the controls. They do not believe such missiles could be controlled for the distance the rockets appear to travel, nor are they convinced that the projectiles are radio-controlled.

They are of the opinion the missiles are rocket-propelled and burn themselves out into nothingness at the end of their flight.

Whatever the projectiles, and whatever their meaning, they certainly have created nationwide distress among a peaceful people anxious to pursue their peaceful ways.

THIEF PREFERS PENITENTIARY TO MAKE GRID SQUAD

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Joseph Horsey, 26, was in Eastern State Penitentiary today at his own request and for his own reasons.

Convicted of stealing $300 worth of checks from a U. S. employment service office, Horsey pleaded with the judge to send him to the "pen" rather than the county prison.

Said Horsey: "I understand the Eastern Pen has a pretty nice football team."

Judge Byron A. Miller gave Horsey one to two years to make the squad.

Belgium Fared Better Than Other Occupied Countries

By JEANNE HOFFMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BRUSSELS, Belgium (By Mail)—There are muscles sprouting along with the brussels sprouts in Belgium these days. For though the rest of Europe may be starving, there is plenty of food in Belgium—at a price.

You can have two eggs, toast, tea, butter, cream, and a tankful of strawberries for $2.50 a breakfast. For dinner, there's oysters, chicken wing, salad, chops, fruit, ice cream, coffee, cognac, and wine for $12.

Belgium Suffered Less
Belgium, under the Nazi military rule rather than civil, suffered less than any occupied country. The Dutch will tell you the Nazis were anxious to keep the good-will of industrial Belgium, which to date has made a handspring recovery.

Black market, although the government is making consistent efforts to crack down on activities, flourishes brazenly in the open, and you can buy anything from hardware to second-hand donkeys. Vendors pack the busy streets with fruit and neckties, English and Belgian soldiers crowd the snack-bars with hamburgers and ice cream, and there are restaurants every other step.

Butcher shops are loaded with meat, and even the street-cars come in double takes. They're hooked together in pairs.

There is unlimited gas and unimpaired clothes. The latter follow the British trend in styles, as does the Belgian army uniform.

Clothes On Coupons
Clothes are on coupons but it doesn't bother anyone; the coupons appear to be purchasable along with the clothes.

We bought several articles at the Innovation, Brussels' largest store, and the saleslady automatically included the price of the coupon along with the purchase. Or maybe she thought Americans wore coupons.

Food prices vary with the restaurant. You can pay $15 at a swank elbow eatery, or you can get a good, legal meal for as low as $2.00. At the Hotel Canterbury, we had excellent soup, roast lamb, potatoes, asparagus swamped with creamed cheese, tea with cream, and ice cream for $2.50. You can get steak and chips for only $1.00 at any snack bar.

In the morning market, retailers bid unchalantly for eggs, beef, chicken, bacon, lamb, fish, pork, fruit and vegetables. Belgians can buy eggs at four cents each, unlimited butter at 20 cents a pound, tomatoes at 50 cents, grapes at $1.00 a bunch, strawberries at 80 cents a dozen, melons from $1 to $2.50 each, peaches at 35 cents each.

But you don't have to eat all the time. You can drink. Excellent wines are marked from $1.20 to $8, standard cognac, goes from $3.50 to $5.00 a gin at $2.40. And, better still, there's plenty for all.

THIEF PREFERS PENITENTIARY TO MAKE GRID SQUAD
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Joseph Horsey, 26, was in Eastern State Penitentiary today at his own request and for his own reasons.

Convicted of stealing $300 worth of checks from a U. S. employment service office, Horsey pleaded with the judge to send him to the "pen" rather than the county prison.

Said Horsey: "I understand the Eastern Pen has a pretty nice football team."

Judge Byron A. Miller gave Horsey one to two years to make the squad.

First Shipment Of Giant Tanks To Arrive Soon

Work Is Progressing On Gas
Company Peak-Load
Plant Near Ellwood

George Holt of Kansas City has arrived in Ellwood City to become field superintendent for J. P. Pritchard & Co., the general contractor for the new peak-load plant which is erecting for the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.

Ground has been broken for the new plant, which will help meet fuel requirements of all natural gas users in this locality.

The first shipment of the 16 giant propane storage tanks will arrive at the plant site later this month.

Discusses Propane Use

In commenting on the widespread use of propane to meet peak-load requirements, F. W. Burdette, local manager of the natural gas company in New Castle, said:

"It is estimated that in 1945 about 60,000,000 gallons of liquefied petroleum gases in undiluted form, or diluted to various heating values were used in this country. This was more than a 25 per cent increase over that used in 1944.

"The natural gas company will soon have commercial propane available for use at those infrequent times when adequate supplies of natural gas are not readily available. It will be mixed in with the natural gas on particularly cold days in the winter months, ahead of the peak-load plant is operating our customers will be receiving a fuel having greater heating value in each cubic foot than is normally available. This situation will exist for relatively short periods of time. Our customers' ranges, refrigerators, water heaters or gas-fired house heating equipment will operate just as efficiently and as economically, at these times as at any other time.

"As a matter of fact, since the mixture of propane and natural gas is richer in heat content per foot than just natural gas, not as much fuel will be needed at those times to boil an egg or broil a chop."

Treasury Will Retire Two Billion Of Public Debt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—The treasury announced today that it will retire another two billion dollars of the public debt on Oct. 1.

This will bring to 17 billion, 485 million dollars the amount cut from the national debt since March.

The two billion dollars is part of the series H-1946 certificates of indebtedness—three billion, 439 million, 855 thousand dollars worth—which mature Oct. 1. The remainder will be exchanged for one-year seven-eighths per cent certificates of indebtedness.

The public debt as of Sept. 12, latest treasury figures, was 265 billion, 706 million dollars and the two billion dollars will be subtracted from it.

Dedicate Lake As Memorial To State War Dead

Artificial Lake At Indiantown Memorial To State's 33,054 Battle Casualties

INNDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Sept. 17.—(INS)—State officials headed by Gov. Edward Martin Monday dedicated an 85-acre artificial lake as a memorial to the 33,054 Pennsylvania battle casualties in World War II.

The official dedication stood on a wind-swept knoll above the lake during the 35-minute ceremonies surrounded by more than 1,600 state guardsmen and 500 state troopers preparing to break camp after four days of maneuvers.

Near the lake which will be used for amphibious training of soldiers as well as public recreation, is land which will be developed by the fish commission. A 1,250-bed hospital skirts one side of the lake.

During the ceremonies the William Moffitt Reilly medal, awarded for long and meritorious service to officers of the Pennsylvania National Guard, was presented to Col. Franklin P. Haller, Jr., of Folcroft, Pa., who enlisted in the Sixth Pennsylvania Infantry June 24, 1903, and was discharged November 17, 1944.

Duff at Ceremonies

The governor was joined for the dedication ceremonies by Attorney General James H. Duff, chairman of the Pennsylvania historical and museum commission; Brig. Gen. Robert M. Vail, state adjutant general; Secretary of Forests and Waters James H. Kell, Secretary of Highways Ray Smock, Seth Gordon, chairman of the State Game Commission, and Fish Commissioner Charles French.

Guardsmen trekked back to barracks following the dedication to end the encampment highlighted yesterday by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson's admonition that a "strong defense is still the best insurance against war."

Patterson said that the nation's defenses must be kept strong until an "effective" peace organization has been established.

Work Of Alcoholics Anonymous Told By East Liverpool Man

Jerry Ryan Of East Liverpool Explains How Anonymous Organization Has Redeemed Many

How that sincere group of people, who have been lifted out of the depths of despair into which they were once plunged by the disease of alcoholism, and have helped many others, was told by Jerry Ryan, of East Liverpool, O., a veteran of World War One at the meeting of New Castle Rotary Club following their noon luncheon in The Castleton Monday.

Ryan, who himself was redeemed to a life of useful citizenship by the society, told how the organization works, and answered questions asked by the Club.

He stated that the society will be glad to help anyone who has a problem brought on by alcoholism. The confidence of all those who ask for help is respected. Their names are kept entirely secret. All that is necessary is to write a letter and address it to Alcoholics Anonymous, in care of the Postmaster. The names of the local officers are known to him, and the letter will be referred to the local society, which Mr. Ryan stated, is one of the most active in Western Pennsylvania.

"New Castle's Oldest Cleaners"

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

By JULIAN HARTT
(Substituting John Todd is on vacation)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17.—This is just a routine day in the life of Movie Actress Gale Storm, but for Gale Storm, the wife and mother, you can mark it down as strictly red letter.

On the set of "It Happened on Fifth Avenue" at Monogram, in which she's starring with Don DeFore, Ann Harding, Charlie Ruggles and Victor Moore, Gale told her reporter:

"Tonight our new housekeeper reports for work!"

With a husband, two youngsters and some visiting relatives in the house, plus a long shooting schedule every day at the studio, the advent of a housekeeper to take some of the load off her own attractive shoulders is an event, indeed.

"But how," your reporter asked, "did you manage to find a housekeeper with an establishment like yours to run?"

Gale laughed:

How It Works
It's simple. I make an appointment with them over the telephone to come and see me. Then when they arrive I keep more or less out of the way and let them talk to my handsome actor-husband, Lee Bonnell.

Actually, Gale added seriously, the biggest problem was keeping her youngsters under control during the interview. She said:

"The youngest, of course, is just a baby and no trouble, but I must say the older one behaved beautifully. It wasn't until after the woman accepted the job and left that Phillip stood up on a living room table."

Being Texas born and bred, Gale is thoroughly used to the idea of relatives dropping in for a visit, but the past summer has been a hectic one with guests coming in relays. "Sometimes," she laughed, "I have to take count in the morning before going to work, just to see if any new ones dropped in overnight."

That actually happened once, Gale said, adding:

Rather Surprised

"An aunt of mine arrived after the children had gone to sleep. All other guest space was taken so we gave her a bed in the boy's room. He woke up in the morning, took a look at the aunt, and then woke her up with the demand:

"How did you get in here?"

Despite the fact that she is reaching full-fledged stardom in her current picture for Director-Producer Roy Del Ruth, Gale still looks on her movie career as something she can take or leave alone, with home and family rating first importance in her plans.

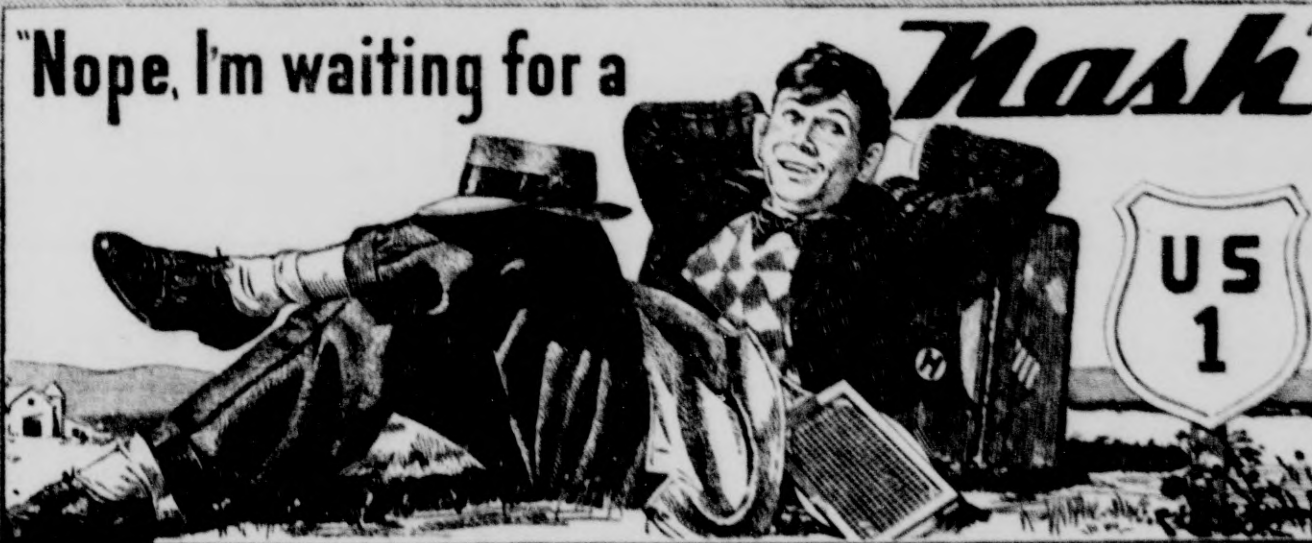

A typical example of this is the fact that she's able to combine her six-day-week career as a glamor girl with a seventh-day career as

Sunday school teacher at the Hollywood-Beverly Christian church, where she conducts the beginners' classes.

Gale said:

"People are always asking me what my hobbies are, and from what I read in the fan magazines, I guess movie stars are supposed to have them.

"All I want to know is: Where do they find the time for them?"

Twenty Given Divorces Here

Court Decrees Are Handed Down By Lawrence County Judge Monday

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Twenty divorces were handed down by Judge John G. Lamoree on Monday morning, all of them being decisions in the cases heard by the judge some days ago. This list is one of the largest to be handed down at one time in years but the divorce applications have increased in the past two years and of course the decisions increase proportionately.

The divorces granted are to the following: Norma M. Fullwood from Chester E. Fullwood, Dorothy Eliza Cunningham from Lewis W. Cunningham, Celesta E. Davis from Donald J. Davis, Doris M. Mann from George A. Mann, Dorothy I. Bame from George Bame.

THE FINANCIAL CONDITION
As of September 1, County Treasurer Frank W. Hill shows the county to have in the various banks $634,338.84, which sounds like a lot of money and is. But the picture isn't quite as good as the total shows. First of all, not all of the money is the county's, and secondly, the treasury is swollen with recently paid-in taxes.

Of the total the county has for general purposes (which is the operating fund for the county), $305,047.45. In the institution fund there is $107,588.47. In the gasoline fund there is $29,270.99. In the sinking fund, $77,996.22. These moneys belong solely to the county but are for certain specific uses. In the total are the following sums which are held in trust and will be divided among the political subdivisions. Road and school fund, $6,693.67. Commissioners' sales fund, $49,033.70. Checking and cash, $6,002.50. Trust account, county owned property, $52,699.84.

Strong American Foreign Policy Again Presented

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U.S. Foreign Editor)

A strong American foreign policy, partially reaffirmed by President Truman in explanation of his attitude regarding Henry Wallace's controversial New York speech, was presented to the Paris peace conference again Monday when the problem of Trieste came up for re-discussion.

Sen. Tom Connally, an ardent supporter of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in the latter's contention that Soviet Russia must be made to see and acknowledge the complete justice of American policies, led the drive to squelch any belief that Washington is divided or weakening.

The white-haired Texan appeared before the Italian economic commission and threw back at Russia and Yugoslavia the same sort of unrestrained criticism they themselves had used against Great Britain and the United States.

Denies Soviet Charges

He denied charges by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that the Western Allies intend to set up a military base at Trieste.

He lashed out against those who charged would endanger world peace for the third time in two generations for the sake of a few miles of territory.

And he warned that unless Trieste and surrounding areas are placed under United Nations control,

Europe will have on its hands "another Danzig."

Sen. Connally made clear that the United States does not intend to disassociate itself from European territorial issues. He found no difficulty in citing chapter and verse to prove that such problems had caused world wars before and might easily do so again.

The American plan for Trieste as outlined by Sen. Connally, whose vibrant Texas voice expounded Secretary Byrnes' views as well as his own, was that the new territory "must not be a paper state, but a real state with its own authority."

He said:

Highways to Peace

"The United States delegation considers that imperative."

Then he went on to coin a catchphrase that could lead the Paris delegation to success if genuine sincerity replaces bickering and half-splitting in the final four weeks before the conference is due to adjourn to make way for the general assembly of the United Nations.

It was this:

"We are seeking highways that lead to peace. Europe must do its part."

This was a clear implication that America feels it is carrying a heavy burden in Europe, economically, militarily and psychologically. Sen. Connally's ringing speech called upon the European people—both friends and former foes—to start doing something for their own salvations.

Youth Is Attacked With Sledge Hammer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—(INS)—William Charney, 22-year-old war veteran who was attacked with a sledge-hammer by his father following a quarrel Sunday, today remained in critical condition in Mercy hospital.

The youth's father, John, 59, was held in county jail pending outcome of injuries he inflicted on his sleeping son when he hit him twice in the head with the sledge-hammer.

Police said the mattress and pillow upon which young Charney was lying absorbed much of the force of the blows and saved him from certain death.

Boasts Most Equipped Bike

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—An unusual title is claimed for a bike owned by a sailor stationed at the Philadelphia naval base. It is the most equipped bike in the country.

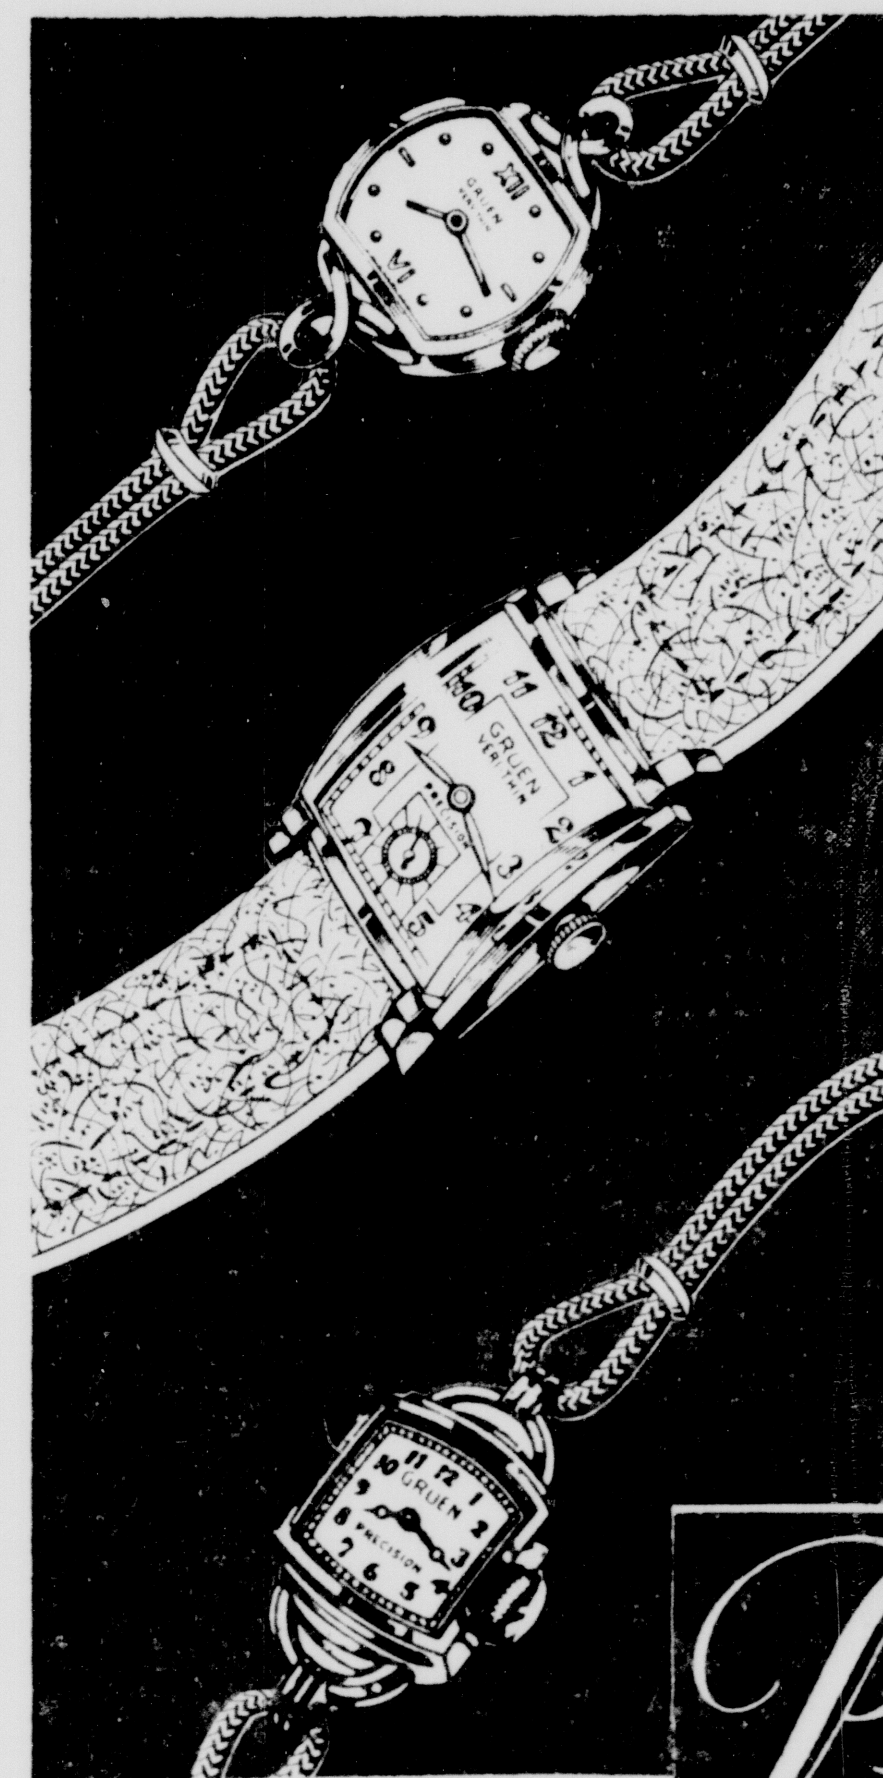

Here's a list of the accoutrements this bike boasts:

A set of chains, claxon horn, three bells including a doorbell, an ordinary horn siren, eighteen assorted lights, five generators, radio, speedometer, cyclometer, compass and a thermometer.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second U. P. church, will speak on an interesting subject at our noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday, when he will discuss, "Alcoholics Anonymous". Not only is the speaker a good one, but his subject is also one of timely interest. New Castle Kiwanis will be host to District Governor Don Matthews and other clubs of District 2 at dinner at 6:30 o'clock, September 24. There will be a lieutenant governor's caucus after the dinner. Ellwood City Kiwanis is providing the entertainment of the evening.

Electrical Program Features Meeting Of Engineers Society

What Happens During Summer Storm Shown By Westinghouse movie; Round Gives Talk

What happens at the power plant when a severe summer storm breaks, bringing sudden darkness to a community, was shown to members of the Mahoning Shenango Valley Engineers' society at their first dinner meeting of the season in The Castleton Monday evening.

This was followed by a talk by L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, who spoke on "How to Keep the Juice on the Line."

Mr. Round told about the extensive preparations which were made by the utilities industry to take care of the wartime load and how the great demand for power was met in this district.

He also explained the co-ordinated power system which links the various districts. Mr. Round paid tribute to the ability and faithfulness of the men and women in the power industry who keep power always available and restore it promptly in cases where trouble suddenly breaks.

A report was also made by Roger Robinson of Zelenople, who represented the Engineers' society at the State College when the annual election of the board of directors took place. H. P. Canady of Zelenople was also a delegate to the election meeting.

Younger Slant On The Town

Okay, so vacations are over for us, just as they are for everyone else...horrible isn't it?...among other kids going back to school, Walter Jaskolka, big, blond former football star of Union High—class of '42—is starting his last year at Penn State on September 30. Walter, who was in the navy for 32 months, first went to Penn State on a scholarship...he's after a B. A. degree and intends to go to law school after graduation...

Bill Nicholson's classes also start on September 30 at the Cleveland School of Art...it's a three-year course which he hopes will lead to magazine illustrations, or maybe advertising...a little bit different from navigating a B-24 which was his job during the war...as a final binge, Bill threw a party on the rocks of the Slippery Rock creek Monday night...the kids played cards by the light of a bonfire...and to inquiries about his car, "Janie", Bill says nothin' doin' it just isn't sellin'...

Speaking of Cleveland students, Helene Edgar, who works on the advertising staff of "Life", has enrolled for evening classes at Penn college...Helene and Eleanor Poncey were down from Cleveland over the week-end to attend the wedding of their cousin, Helen Woortwerk, to W. L. Holmes of Beaver...Eleanor works for the Curtis Publishing company...

Passing up Cleveland for Chicago, Earl Mottera, Pete Pearce, Floyd Kelley, Howard Kelly, Andy Maurice and Marty Holtzapfel had a big week-end in the Windy City recently...these fellows were all recently discharged...

Russ and Bob Horcher are commuting to Slippery Rock this year...Russ and his wife, the former Betty Robinson, have just found a new apartment on Wallace avenue...Bob, Russ and their brother Ray were all in the navy, weren't they?

Remember when Maurice Spitalny's band played for Swing Lobby at the Rainbow Terrace last week, under the sponsorship of the May-Croft Recreation committee and Harriet Birk sang? Besides the tremendous applause she got, Harriet was congratulated by Mr. Spitalny and Fay Parker for her lovely voice.

Rev. H. H. Grove Is Reassigned To Emmanuel Church

Evangelical Churches Merge With United Brethren; New Set-Up Effective In November

Rev. H. H. Grove, pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical church, South Jefferson street, for the past two years, has been reassigned to the church's pastorate for the third year.

Rev. and Mrs. Grove have returned from the 95th session of the Pittsburgh annual conference of the Evangelical church which ended Friday in Johnstown, Pa.

The conference was significant in the fact that it will be the last time the delegates will meet under the name of The Evangelical Church. In November the merger of the Evangelical church and the United Brethren church will take place in the First U. B. church of Johnstown, Pa., and the church will then be known as the Evangelical United Brethren church.

The new set-up is not connected in any manner with the local United Brethren churches of the city, it was learned by The News today in a statement from Rev. Grove.

BAKED PERFECTION

Epicures differ as to the qualities of the perfect baked apple. In general, however, the ideal is a baked apple that holds its shape and has a color—either pink or yellowish—has smooth unbroken skin, is tender and juicy but not mushy, and is delicately sweet. Marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest that some of the best varieties for baking which will be on the market this fall are Rome Beauty, Staygreen, Winesap, Rhode Island Greening and Tipple.

Cookery scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture offer the following directions for baking:

Wash apples thoroughly and core them without cutting through the blossom end. Place the apples, blossom end down, in a baking dish. Fill the holes with a mixture of brown sugar or honey, raisins soaked by soaking or chopped soaked raisins, a bit of butter if it can be spared and chopped nuts if desired. The dried fruit is suggested because it adds sweetness and helps save sugar. Add just enough water to the pan to keep apples from sticking. Then cover the dish. The steam held by the cover makes the apples cook faster and more evenly.

Bake at a temperature from 350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit. Baking will take about half an hour, depending on the size and variety of apples. When apples are soft throughout when tested in the center with a fork, they are done. Serve hot or cold, with or without cream.

Big Demand For City Maps

Now and then every individual or organization does something which appears like a routine necessity and the action turns out to be a winner. So it has been with the city maps recently published by the Greater New Castle Association, J. C. W. Chapman, executive vice president thought it was a good idea to have the maps published as a guide to the city but had no idea would take hold as it has.

So large has the interest been in the maps that the directors have authorized the distribution of them to the general public for the cost of printing which is twenty-five cents each. Citizens who want one or more of the maps can get them by payment of the fee in the office.

Many of the maps are being distributed as a public service. Churches, schools, city and county buildings, the library, Red Cross, Community Chest, YM and YWCA, Catholic Welfare Service, State Highway department, hospitals, Veterans' Administration, Margaret H. Hays Home, Almira Home, West Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Armory these are being given maps. Obviously it would be out of the question to distribute them generally without charge and yet the GNCA wants a wide distribution. Hence the small fee.

The map is the most complete city map ever published here. Points of interest are marked, streets are plainly marked, and a visitor with one of them could find his way about the city with ease.

Further Probe Of Nicaraguan Project Asked

Senator Ferguson Demands
Secret "Rama Road"
Case Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., member of the senate war investigating committee, called for a further probe of the "Rama road" in Nicaragua, started with a secret four million dollar gift by the late President Roosevelt.

Ferguson said he and other members of their Mead subcommittee inspecting the controversial and inter-American highway "stumbled into" the 200 mile ocean-to-ocean Rama road in Nicaragua, about which he said the United States administration maintained secrecy.

The Michigan senator said the subcommittee learned that Nicaragua is looking to the United States for another two and one-half million dollars to complete the project.

Ferguson, who is in Detroit, told International News Service that when he returns to Washington he will demand that no further American money be spent on the project.

He will ask department witnesses to tell the Mead committee what rights, if any, American citizens have to use of the highway, which he labeled "non-military."

Ferguson explained that the four million dollars came from the 50 million dollar secret war fund which congress allotted President Roosevelt for use without any accounting. Ferguson declared the highway could never have been of the "slightest military use". Not part of the inter-American highway project, it joins it a few miles north of Managua, on the Pacific coast, and runs across to Rama, on the Atlantic coast.

There, Ferguson said, it comes out on a river mouth in which extensive dredging operations would have to be carried out before it could be used as a seaport.

The Michigan senator declared that the money gift by President Roosevelt early in the war was "political rather than military."

He said it had the effect of "strengthening the hand of a Central American dictator."

New Castle Auto In Collision In Mercer County

MERCER, Sept. 17.—Property damage of $600 and injury to one person resulted when Pierce Lewis, R. D. 1, Sandy Lake, failed to come to a complete stop on the Blacktown road near Center church and struck the side of a car driven by John C. Huber, Jr., R. D. 2, New Castle, according to state police of the Mercer sub-station.

Mrs. George Restorli, Nipissing, Ontario, Canada, a passenger in the Huber car, was treated at the Grove City hospital for minor lacerations.

During July, the department said, 104 persons were killed and 11,049 injured in industrial mishaps.

SHIPPING STRIKE HITS PHILADELPHIA SUGAR PLANT OWNERS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Residents of the Philadelphia area faced a sugar famine today as the result of the paralyzing maritime strike.

The Pennsylvania Sugar company closed its doors yesterday, throwing 1,500 workers into idleness. The city's only other sugar plant—the Franklin Sugar company, shut down last Friday, leaving 800 workers without jobs.

Sugar spokesmen said 48 million pounds of sugar are aboard vessels tied up in the Philadelphia harbor, but not a pound has moved into the refineries since the AFL-Sea-farers' International began the strike that was later taken up by the CIO-National Maritime union. Meanwhile, 113 ships swung at anchor in the harbor—establishing a 30-year record.

Executives Club Meets October 1

First Meeting Will Be Featured By Address By George Rony On
'Europe Reorganizes'

With an interesting group of programs lined up for the coming fall and winter season, the New Castle Executives Club will resume its dinner meetings on Tuesday, October 1, in the Castleton, the speaker on this occasion being George Rony, author, motion picture director, and producer.

His subject will be "Europe Reorganizes." He will bring to the club some of the best unpublished information available anywhere in the world on the under-the-surface influences, traditions, and desires of the continent of Europe, where two world wars have hatched during the present generation.

Mr. Rony knows France and Russia well, for he was engaged in producing propaganda pictures for them at the outbreak of World War Two, but he also has lived in Germany, the Balkans, and Spain, and knows what is going on there.

At East Side School; Plan
Future Activities

Mrs. Nancy Stevenson, are, library and auditorium teacher at the Thaddeus Stevens grade school on the East Side, announced today that the students of the school are looking forward to the school's annual garden show, which will be presented next week.

Students of the school will bring various vegetable and flower displays to the school to be arranged in an attractive setting by the teachers and later to be judged for uniqueness of arrangement and quality.

Peter Grittle, assistant principal of the school, reported that a number of new teachers have taken their place on the school faculty. Among these are Miss Garnet Cameron, Mrs. Martha Clark, Mrs. Ruth Meyers and Mrs. Nancy Stevenson.

Mr. Grittle also stated that the Gray-Y Boys' club of the school is planning many future athletic events. Mr. Grittle is replacing Miss Laura Cowmeadow as head of the club work.

In the music department, headed by Mrs. Emma Richards, plans are shaping up for the coming programs of the school on the various holidays when special musical presentations will be given. Thirty-six of the school students in grades three to six are taking music lessons under private tutors, it is reported, making their school programs much more effective due to this added training.

During the school year, it is planned again to have 100 per cent co-operation in the Victory Savings Stamp program which will be carried on in all the city schools.

Poland Releases Two U. S. Soldiers Held On Charges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—The war department announced today that two American soldiers charged with having committed serious crimes in Poland have been released by Polish authorities and have returned to the U. S. zone in Germany.

The soldiers were identified as Pvt. Melvin R. Best, Buile, Mont., and Pvt. Curtis Dagley, Gloucester, Mass. They are charged by the Poles with murder and rape.

Their transfer was a result of an agreement between the United States and Polish governments. Under the agreement, investigation of the facts surrounding the cases will be made by American military authorities. Polish representatives will be given an opportunity to present evidence.

Best is accused by the Polish government of having killed a Polish militiaman on Dec. 11, 1945, while under the influence of alcohol.

Dagley is charged with attempting rape and the wounding of a Polish security policeman on May 7, 1946 while he was guarding a train entering Poland.

The war department said it is understood that another American soldier has admitted complicity in the shooting and that "it is believed Dagley is innocent."

Meat Shortage Substitutes Given

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(INS)—The meat shortage was reflected Monday in the makeup of the first page of the Chicago Herald-American.

The top headline was given to a story by Mary Martensen, the newspaper's food editor, and read:

"How you can eat well without meat."

The sub-head "All's Not Lost. Many Foods To Enjoy," and the story listed meat substitutes, such as fish, eggs, poultry, beans, nuts and dairy products.

Miss Martensen's story listed menus for "meatless meals," and offered such recipes as "vegetable omelet" and "convent pie" in which macaroni and cheese takes the place of meat.

WHAT DAY IS IT? I mean, what year is it? My word, I've been asleep 20 years!

Yessir, I see lots of changes since 1926, but women's hats are as silly as ever! And the high cost of living is enough to send me back to sleep for another 20 years!

Gosh, look at all the new electrical gadgets! When I dozed off back in the Twenties, we had electric lights and an iron and a vacuum cleaner at our house! Now we've got a refrigerator, a couple of radios (my last one was a crystal set), clocks, toaster, washer—why, everything you touch has a switch on it!

It's funny, too, with all those gadgets perking away, my electric bill isn't much more than it was 20 years ago, while everything else has gone up a lot!

(Yes, Rip Van Winkle, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 20 years ago. It took increased usage plus plenty of skill and planning—under sound business management—to make electricity the bargain it is right now!)

Indies And Wampum Ready For Final Game Wednesday

Record Crowd At Wampum Field To See Series End

Manager George Zidow Will Pitch Michaliojko, Wampum Will Use Powell

SERIES STANDS AT TWO APIECE

Wampum is making preparations today to handle the largest crowd in the history of baseball in the community, Wednesday evening at 5:30 o'clock when the Lawrence Indies, of New Castle, city baseball champions will battle the Wampum Legion, Lawrence County League champions in the final of a terrific five-game series.

Upwards of 5000 fans from New Castle, Ellwood and Wampum will be on hand for the contest, it was indicated. Interest in the series is at fever heat, as seen by the overflow crowd that saw the hot Sunday battle at the E. & A. field.

Michaliojko Vs. Powell
On the shoulders of the tall good looking Mike Michaliojko rests the Lawrence Indies chances of taking the measure of the Lawrence County League champions, Wampum is banking on Frank Powell the veteran to bring them through in the finale.

"I'm going with Michaliojko in the game Wednesday, with Russu my second choice, said the smiling genial "Hess" Zidow of the Lawrence Indies today."

"We will have Red Nickum and Doc Savage in reserve though in case the Wampums get tough at the plate," Zidow confided.

Manager "Bud" Wardman of the Wampum team said "It's Frank Powell at the start for us Wednesday, with Carmen Leopardo ready for action when needed."

Managers Confident
Both Managers Zidow and Wardman are confident of winning the big final battle. It will be a hot contest all the way. A break may decide it one way or another.

It is understood that New Wilmington would like to play the winners of this series. New Wilmington won the North County League championship.

The fans are planning to make Wampum, their mecca Wednesday and the only thing that worries the Wampum officials is where to put the crowd. The field has been put in tip-top shape for the titanic struggle.

Lesnevitch Favored To Beat Woodcock
LONDON, Sept. 17. (INS)—Gus Lesnevitch, American light-heavyweight, was regarded as the best bet to win in his bout tonight with Bruce Woodcock, husky British heavyweight.

The bout has attracted enormous interest in Britain and Promoter Solomon announced that there has been a complete sell-out of tickets ranging in price from $5 to $50.

Lesnevitch, who is 21 pounds lighter than Woodcock and six years older, is figured to be too ring-wise for the British fighter.

Union Preparing For Second Game

Scotland Laners Hope To Get Started On Winning Streak Friday

Union High griders came through the first practice last night following their battle with Mans last week when a powerful Mans team and a muddy field defeated them 13-0.

There were no injuries as a result of the game and all players including Stan Kupiec, an outstanding left guard who sustained a leg injury during a previous practice scrimmage, turned out for the session.

Coaches Pleased
Coaches Bob Dinsmore and "Pat" Patterson were well pleased with the team's performance during the Mans game. The coaches plan to give the squad another real workout during this week in order to be ready for George Junior Republic from Grove City, at the Union field on Friday afternoon.

Union's "Blue Devils" are "fighting mad" after missing touchdowns last week by a few yards, and are working hard to make amends through the rest of the season. The Dinsmore coached boys will be an aroused team on Friday.

The Baptists are pinning their hopes on Teddy Lach, Ted Woodrow, Henry Broad, Dal Mumford, Roy Mumford and young Bob Hay. The Saints will have Fred Palmer, Stan Bukowski, Jimmy Galt, Ezz Palmer, Bob Palmer and either Chuck Palmer or Johnny Brinko in the lineup. It was indicated. A red-hot match is anticipated.

Detroit Tigers Release Bridges
Veteran Bridges Intends To Stay In Baseball, He Tells Reporters

DETROIT, Sept. 17. (INS)—Detroit Tigers General Manager George Trautman Monday announced the outright release of Thomas B. (Tommy) Bridges, one of the Bengals' all-time pitching stars.

The 39-year-old curve-ball expert reported that he intends to stay in baseball. He said he may sign with a Pacific coast team or accept a coaching offer in the majors.

The willowy Tennessee lad has won 194 games for the Tigers since coming up from Evansville in 1930. He was the hill sensation of the 1935 world series, when he twice beat the Cubs.

Bridges was appointed a coach at the winter baseball meetings last December, but decided he wanted to pitch and was replaced on the active roster this spring.

Bridges broke into organized baseball with Wheeling, W. Va., of the Middle Atlantic League in 1929.

New Ticket Booth On Cunningham Ave.
In order to facilitate the handling of the bleacher tickets for the New Castle high football games, the high officials, according to Faculty Manager Robert Mills, will open a new ticket window on Cunningham avenue Friday night.

This will help get the fans into the game quicker. Only one small booth and one ticket seller has been trying to take care of the 3,000 or more fans who jam the line for bleacher seats. The windows will open at 7 o'clock, the night of the games.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND
While fishing recently at Lakefield, Canada, Jim Dennis and Bill Kocher, two residents of this city, had an odd experience, one of the most unique that could happen. Here is what Jim writes to Here & There: "Here's one for Ripley: Bill Kocher and I were fishing from opposite ends of a 15-foot boat. I got a strike and the fish started toward the other end of the boat. Then Bill got a strike. We both started reeling and lo and behold, a 15-inch bass came up with both our hooks set in its mouth. We were using minnows. Today (September 11) I caught two muskies, 9 1/2 pounds and 7 pounds. Fish were not hitting for several weeks but they are starting to hit now." ... Wayneburg College has one of the best grid gens of high school fame, rugged Bert Sutton, former All-State and All-WPIAL fullback at Brownsville. Bert is expected to carry the brunt of the Ace Wiley team's attack this season. ... Home from a convention Andy Dodds, prominent in the affairs of field and stream hereabouts, has returned to his courteous duties. ... Tony Mastriani, who had four success fishing some weeks ago in Canada, caught a muskie several days ago at Sandy Lake. ... Youngstown East is Ne-Ca-Hi's opponent Friday night. ... There'll be a scarcity in 16 and 20 gauge shells according to what this writer was told by one who sells shells. ... A hike into the woods now-a-days warns that fall is not far distant. Leaves are brown and falling. ... Some butternut trees have a good crop, also black walnut trees.

Jim in 1942, the went out of action in mid-season, with a severe leg injury and he was wounded several times while serving with a tank battalion fighting Germans. ... Believed to be the largest beaver ever captured in this district, a 75-pounder was "snared" east of Titusville. The animal was caught by George Kepner, game protector for Titusville district, in line of duty. ... Color of a hunting dog is important. Small dogs with red or tan coats often are mistaken for rabbits and foxes by hunters who are excited, careless or both. Dogs with black or white coats are less apt to be targets. The color of a dog makes no difference in how clever he may be as a hunter. Natural ability and training answer that question. ... Joe Louis and Tami Mauriello box in New York City, September 18. ... City council had adopted an ordinance, calling for the repair of the spillway at Cascade Park which was broken by the flood. Due to the state's slowness plans submitted were not approved until recently, hence there was no boating on the lake during the outing season.

Youngstown East Bringing Band
Youngstown East high football team will be accompanied to New Castle Friday night not only by about 2,000 followers, but by their fine band under the leadership of Terry Carson, a former local well known bandsman.

The Youngstown band will have 70 pieces and is highly recognized in Ohio scholastic circles for their fine type of music and parading. New Castle's great 100-piece band will of course be on hand and a swell music battle is bound to result.

Pass Defense Being Stressed By High Grids
Youngstown East always a dangerous passing team, can be relied upon to throw a mess of passes here Friday night at the stadium when the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" bumps into the Oilers in the third game on the 1946 card, and for that reason Head Coach Phil Bridenbaker is stressing pass defense this week.

With Coach Dick Barrett back at the helm at East after a period coaching a Miami, Florida high team, the Youngstons will be up to their old tricks and that will include "razzle-dazzle" type of football.

East Has Six Vets
East High comes here with six veterans who played in the New Castle game here last year, in which New Castle won 13 to 0. New Castle will have two men in the starting lineup that faced East last season, Gribble and Tate.

New Castle has won the first two—beating Erie East and Butler, but this third hurdle is a high one to get over. New Castle is looking for its toughest fight of the year with the Oilers, who want to avenge that 1945 setback. Youngstown East last week defeated Youngstown South 14 to 0.

Another record crowd is indicated at the stadium when the two scholastic teams face each other. It was indicated by the heavy demand for tickets. The 13,000 crowd of last week will likely be surpassed as East has a large following, and it's a New Castle-Youngstown heated rival battle.

Captain of the championship Hawks team is G. I. Dave Speed, and his star performers are Williams, "Canco Kid" Guido, Lloyd Harris and Gerald Earl. Last night Williams defeated Murphy, Speed defeated Pitzer and Guido defeated Allen.

The Hawks will now battle the Robins, the first-half champs, an 18-hole playoff either Saturday or Sunday, it was announced. Other low cards last night besides Williams were Guido, Al Ellis, Rowe and Todd with 45s. Jerry Allen is the captain of the Robins and Speed, the Hawks.

The Canco golfers will stage a big banquet at the end of the championship series, it was announced, at which time various prizes will be given and the champions honored.

Idle Cardinals Increase Lead, Bums Murdered
Paul Minner Throws Home Run Ball To Nicholson With Bases Loaded

PHILS WHITEWASH PIRATES 2 TO 0
By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—It seems that both the Cardinals and the Dodgers were right all along.

Six weeks ago the master minds of both St. Louis and Brooklyn, ignoring each other, kept saying that Chicago was the team to beat. The Cubs, riddled by an unprecedented epidemic of injuries, have no chance of repeating themselves, but they are just about going to decide who is going to win the National league pennant.

On top of handing Brooklyn two highly disastrous defeats in Chicago recently, the Cubs now have really given the Dodgers their jolts by beating them two out of three when it hurt the most.

Cards Stretch Lead
The Cardinals stretched their lead to two games yesterday by the simple process of remaining idle, letting Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers outsmart himself, and watching Swish Nicholson of the Cubs connect with a cripple served by an inexperienced rookie pitcher for a grand-slam homer.

The Dodgers died with their boots on again, however. They staked the Cubs to five runs and then tied the score, only to lose out when Leo the Lip played a bad hunch at this point by sending Paul Minner, rookie southpaw, to the mound. The youngster's lack of baseball education cost Brooklyn the game.

Scrimmage Begins On College Grid—Fred Paine Returns To College—Out For Football

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 17.—Regular equipment has been issued to the 55 men attending the Westminster college football training camp and the body contact phase has been reached, according to Coach Melvin Hetzler.

The men were divided into two teams Monday morning and scrimmage started during the afternoon. Hetzler informed the boys that this is an important period and he expects to have a definite idea of the talent present by the end of the week.

One of the newest arrivals is Fred Paine of Hollidays Cove, W. Va., a three-year basketball veteran who is making his first try at football. Paine stands 6 ft. 6 inches and weighs 217 pounds. He is interested in a backfield position.

Local 165-Pounder Drops Eight-Round Decision In Rough Millvale Bout

Henry Smith, 167, of Charleroi, defeated Russell Baxter, 165, of New Castle, in an eight-round bout at Zivic bowl, Millvale, last night. The fight was rough and Referee Buck McTierman had to warn both boxers several times, according to reports. In the other eight-rounder, Ralph Lyons, Latrobe, lost a split decision to Ralph Freedman, West View, Pittsburgh, in a light-heavyweight bout. Previously, Lyons defeated Freedman.

Ellwood City, Rochester Hi Battle Friday
Wolverines Clash With Second Powerful AA Foe Before Home Fans Under Lights

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—Battered by Brownsville, 21-0, and eliminated from the class AA race for the season, Ellwood high's Wolverines will meet Rochester on home turf Friday night, in their second league encounter.

Coaches "Dutch" Croft and Howard Gills really didn't expect to top the powerful "Brownies," and now that they have seen their team in action, will attempt to smooth up the attack and defense and make things tough for the remaining opponents.

Rams Formidable
Rochester will be the object of the Wolverines' revenge plot in Friday's all-light struggle. Last season the Ewing-coached machine defeated the "Wolves" 12-7, knocking them out of AA competition. Ellwood will be out to even the score.

The Rams have bowed over two teams so far, winning their opener against Follansbee, W. Va., 26-0, and defeating Midland Friday night, 26-12.

Ewing has nine letters back from 1945. They are "Sonny" Pagley, end; John Mohrle, guard; Jack McLaughlin, guard; Jack Swager, center; Vic Rubbo, guard; and John Carasack, tackle. Backs include Johnny Mengel, quarterback, and Alex Farmer and "Skip" Doyle, halfbacks. Mengel is the threat of the team, with his running and passing, and over-all the team has power, speed and defensive prowess.

To Make Changes
Undoubtedly Croft will do some overhaul work on the Blue and White for the game. The ground offensive was against Brownsville, the Wolverines being shut out in first downs in the first half of the game. And the aerial game needs a going-over, too. Out of six attempts, only one was completed, and three fell into enemy hands. One of the interceptions was run back for a score.

Summing up the situation, the fact remains that the "Wolves" will probably not meet as strong an opponent the rest of the season. The thing they must do now is reassemble themselves and point for the remaining games.

Naturalization Law For Alien Veterans Ends In December

Special Legislation Making Naturalization Of Veterans Simple
Procedure Expires Soon

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Alien veterans in this area who served in the U. S. armed forces during the war were urged today to take advantage of the special legislation in force until December 31 to facilitate their admission to citizenship.

Alvin R. Guyer, manager of the Pittsburgh regional office, Veterans Administration, said that although naturalization proceedings are not connected in any way with the V. A. he feels that the importance of American citizenship for all men and women who are veterans, is something which cannot be emphasized too strongly.

He pointed out that under provisions of the second war powers act as amended, alien war veterans have only until the end of the year to file their petitions for citizenship to avail themselves of the simplified procedure. The petitions can be filed, regardless of residence, in any federal or state court having naturalization jurisdiction.

The procedure under this special legislation is simple. Virtually all the veteran has to do is to make application. No declaration of intention, nor certificate of arrival is required. The applicant does not have to speak English, sign petition in own handwriting or take any tests, and no fees are charged.

Secretary Wallace Declares He Stands On New York Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Secretary of Commerce Wallace, after talking with President Truman about the storm aroused by his foreign policy address, declared Monday afternoon "I stand upon my New York foreign speech."

Wallace, in a brief statement, made no direct reference to President Truman's repudiation of what had been interpreted as the chief executive's endorsement of a "go easy with Russia" policy advocated by the commerce secretary in his speech at New York last Thursday night.

Wallace declared: "I stand upon my New York speech. It was interesting to find that both the extreme right and the extreme left disagreed with the views I expressed."

"Feeling as I do, however, that most Americans are concerned about, and willing to work for, peace, I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace, and I shall, within the near future, speak on this subject again."

Wallace had no comment to make on reports that Secretary of State Birming was incensed over the New York address.

DESIRES HORSES, ALL HE ASKS IS THAT THEY WALK

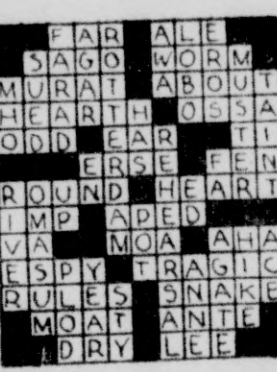

BERWICK, Pa.—(INS)—Elmer Shaffer, of Berwick, wants to buy horses, and all he asks is that they be able to walk and have no contagious disease.

He inserted an ad in his local paper, reading: "If you have an old horse or mule whose work days are over and ready to pass on, I can use him for fox feed. Will pay according to size and condition."

Scholarships To Be Awarded By Council

National Council Of Jewish Women
To Announce Names Of Award Winners

The Nell S. Feuchtwanger scholarship fund of the New Castle section of the National Council of Jewish Women, launched in 1943 as council's latest project and one of its most important local ones, has this fall awarded two scholarships to two deserving and ambitious applicants in this community.

The awards are designed to further their education in institutions of higher learning and to help equip them to lives of useful service along social welfare lines.

Named in honor of the founder of the local council section, Nell S. Feuchtwanger, who gave years of unstinted, unselfish devotion locally and nationally, the recipients of this student aid or loan, were notified after the committee met recently at the home of Mrs. L. F. Kohn, chairman of this fund—that they were selected because of their high academic standing.

Others serving on this important committee are Mrs. Elsie Kaplan, Mrs. M. Rosenberg, Mrs. William Cosel, Mrs. T. H. Martin, treasurer, Mrs. S. Schwartz, co-chairman, and Mrs. Dan Fisher, president of the organization.
